

Where the JOBS will be in 2023

LUNCH BRIEFING

Tuesday 2 April 2019
 12.00 Registration | 12.30pm – 2.00pm

Maroochy RSL
 Memorial Avenue, Maroochydore

speaker

Mr Ross Elliott

Director "The Suburban Alliance"
 & Regional General Manager
 Queensland, APP Property &
 Infrastructure Specialists

Understanding what drives jobs growth and where this is likely to happen is essential to economics, demography, settlement strategy and efficient planning. The figures released by the Federal Government show an economy increasingly reliant on jobs growth in two major cities, but not in the city centres of those cities. Even for the other major capitals, the predictions are for the bulk of state jobs growth to occur in the capital city of that state, but for a minority of the jobs in the capital city to occur in the city centre.

The figures endorse the need for urban infrastructure policies that provide equal priority to the infrastructure needs and place making enhancements of suburban and regional centres, just as they have done for city centres in the past. This is just common sense.

So what does this mean for the Sunshine Coast Region?
